About me:

I am a dedicated and professional developer with strong skills in JavaScript and the React library. Additionally, I have familiarity with powerful state management libraries such as Redux and Redux Toolkit, as well as React's built-in state management tool, the Context API. I am capable of effectively utilizing these technologies in software projects. Furthermore, to deepen my understanding of fundamental programming concepts, I possess basic knowledge of C and SQL. My goal is to deliver innovative and efficient solutions in software development and to pursue continuous growth in dynamic and challenging environments.
